I didn’t choose to have lupus. But I get to decide what comes next.

Do you qualify for the SLE-BRAVE study?

The SLE-BRAVE clinical research study needs volunteers with lupus (systemic lupus erythematosus). Researchers are testing a study drug that you can take by mouth to learn if it may help treat lupus.

If you volunteer and qualify, your participation may last up to 62 weeks (about 14 months). During that time, you’ll receive the study drug or placebo in the form of tablets that you’ll take once a day by mouth. You may also continue taking your current lupus medication during the study. Your health is very important to us, and will be monitored throughout the study.

You may qualify for this study if you:
- Are at least 18 years of age
- Have had systemic lupus erythematosus (lupus) for at least 6 months
