CME Credit provided by The University of Arizona College of Medicine – Tucson

Friday, December 8th, 2017

George 'Geordie' Lawry, MD

Chief of the UC Irvine (UCI) Division of Rheumatology in the Department of Medicine
Clinical Director of the UCI's Multispecialty Clinics
Clinical Professor of Health Sciences at UCI

“Clinical Skill Development: Two ‘New’ Approaches to Finding Our Way Back Home”

Radiology Conference: 7:30 a.m. – 8:30 a.m.
Rheumatology Grand Rounds: 9:00 a.m. – 10:00 a.m.
Chase Auditorium – Room 8403

Learning Objectives: Participants should be able to:

1. Describe 2 frequently cited concerns regarding In-Room Staffing from the attending perspective and the learner perspective. How might these apply to your teaching?
2. List 3 potential advantages of beginning to use In-Room Staffing in your teaching and mentoring in the outpatient setting from the perspective of the patient, attending and trainees. What might prevent you from trying this approach in the coming weeks?
3. Consider the HPI's in oral presentations, EMR notes and patient hand-off documentation produced by your current trainees. Is there room for improvement in length, organization and quality?
4. List 2 distinct advantages of teaching/modeling/encouraging the use of the “chronology of present illness”. What might prevent you from trying this approach in the coming weeks?
5. GO FOR IT!

Target Audience: Physicians and other health care providers

Methodology: Grand Rounds Lecture
